General Comments

When QAM arrived in the afternoon, the children were resting during scheduled nap time. Children were appropriately supervised, and staff-to-child ratios were maintained. Cots were arranged with appropriate spacing in accordance with requirements. The learning environments were well supplied with materials to support art, literacy, dramatic play, and building experiences.

QAM discussed with administration the observation of a child sleeping on a couch rather than a cot. Administration advised that the parents had requested that the child not be placed on a cot and only be permitted to sleep if he fell asleep independently. Educators were observed providing calm support and positive guidance to children who were experiencing difficulty settling for rest time.

The Parent Board, staff-to-child ratios, fire drill records, and staff files were reviewed and found to be current, complete, and compliant with requirements.
