General Comments

When licensing staff arrived, the children were having some free play time while the operator prepared a painting activity on the tuff tray. The operator brings a variety of materials from nature for craft activities. This was seen in the artwork posted throughout the room.
They had done a painting activity using apples and a couple other crafts using leaves, flowers, flower petals, and sticks they had collected on their nature walks. The children were eager to show me their paintings that were posted on the walls.
After the painting activity, the children got ready for outdoor play time where they were observed driving l'il tykes cars in the driveway; coasting down the hill and turning onto the lawn before getting the road. There is a line on the driveway they the children know they cannot cross. A couple of the children were also observed crawling through the bushes on the front lawn.
The operator asked the children if they wanted to stay in the yard or go on a nature walk. They chose the nature walk. While walking though the trail they found some mud and puddles to play in.
After the walk was over the children filled the bird feeder and watched some chickadees eat before going inside for lunch.
Once inside the children removed their outdoor clothing, washed their hands and sat at the table to eat. After lunch, the children had some free play time while the operator prepared for nap time by setting up the play pens and changing diapers.
During the visit, the operator was heard signing with the children while washing hand and changing diapers.
The children seem comfortable in the environment and familiar with the daily routine.
