General Comments

Completed the renewal inspection today.

There is evidence in each room of purposeful program planning based on the interests of the children. The learning environments have come alive with props and materials and the children demonstrated knowledge and enthusiasm when talking about what they have been exploring. Offering well-organized learning centers with a variety of open-ended materials indicates valuing children. Respectful relationships were observed between the children and their educators. Educators intently listened to what the children were contributing and enhanced conversation by engaging in teachable moments.

Documentation in the rooms as well as in the children's portfolios is current and supports the children's learning. Connections are being made to the learning goals of the NB Curriculum Framework.

Each bubble group has a well-established routine for indoor and outdoor play. The educators ensure that bubble groups are not being compromised at any time.
