General Comments

A renewal inspection occurred today. Children were observed both indoors and outdoors and also over afternoon snack (Crackers, cucumbers, cheese and carrots). Various forms of invitations were set up, including but not limited to "Can you make your own cookies"? and "Let's build a puzzle together". Children (as well as educators) were engaged in their learning environments, forming meaningful relationships. Areas were flexible to accommodate children's emerging interests. Furnishings were child-size, comfortable and accessible. Documentation was present within the classrooms that displayed open-ended art projects created and led by the children. Educators had purposely planned activities that took into account each child's strengths, interests and desires. All checks were complete. All staff and a random review of children's files were also verified and complete.
