General Comments

A renewal inspection occurred today. The children were observed having snack, yoghurt tubs and cereal. The environments were flexible to accommodate children's emerging interests. The environments were also co-created with the children including a cardboard box "village" and "blind bag". Environments that are child led are inviting for the children but also support exploration and engagement. Props in each environment or "third teacher" were natural, familiar, real-life materials that represent children's home environments. The daily routine in each room is flexible yet predictable. All checks were complete. All staff and a random review of children's files were observed and completed.
