General Comments

On the day of my visit I was screened upon entry to the school. The program is located in the room that uses half the library and the gym is still being used by another program.

The children were present for a half day today (Wednesday afternoon) and Krista had a couple of Science experiments that the children were very engaged and interested in. They had an egg in vinegar for 48 hours and it was very interesting how the egg was affected. After that they layered different liquids that were different colours and consistencies to see what would happen. This kind of inquiry sparks the imagination and the curiosity of the children and helps develop their ability to think critically.

Krista uses the See Saw program to communicate with the parents and the photo of their group apartment complex reflected an ongoing game that the children developed themselves and play cooperatively.

This program is very peaceful, cooperative and engaged and a lot of this calm energy can be contributed to the excellent use of the Curriculum and the good standard of behaviour expected by the Educator.
