General Comments

On the day of my visit, there was a another YMCA staff stepping in while the regular YMCA educator was out. The educator was very familiar with the YMCA programs so it allowed for a smooth afternoon.

The educator brought the children to wash their hands when they arrived. Then the educator offered a choice for the children to have some free play or to have snack. The children chose snack and the educator joined them and encouraged lots of conversation by asking lots of questions to get to know the children. The educator had good child guidance techniques such as gentle reminders, offering choices, participating with the children to show a genuine interest and using a soft and kind voice.

After snack the children chose to do some beading and make a necklace. Since the cafeteria is used, the YMCA has a trolley cart with materials and supplies for the children.

It was noted that a shelf belonging to the elementary school is in the area of the cafeteria that the YMCA uses. The shelf contains a disassembled grow tower for plants and vegetables and some jugs with different chemicals. YMCA administrators and/or educators must request that the school remove these from the area.

While checking child files, it was noted that one child's file was missing consents. Please ensure that a program that is off-site, away from the administrator's office, has all necessary consents in the binders.
