General Comments

The children were outside playing on the playground today engaged in a ball game, playing on the play structure, or hanging out with educators and peers talking. When they came inside, one group went in to have snack in the craft room while the older group went to the gym. The groups changed after a period of time to allow each group time in the gym.

The educators engaged in games in and out of the gym with children. They were playful and respectful reminding children of rules, when needed. While explaining the rules of a game to children, one educator noticed the children speaking to one another and shouting game rules. The educator became silent waiting for the children's attention instead of trying to talk over them. The educators were continually checking in with children to see if anyone needed a washroom break or a water fill-up. The educators were observed cleaning the tables after play or snacks and sweeping the floor.
