In the two-year-old room I could see documentation about the brown bear and the educator explained to me that they are exploring the color brown at this moment. The infants are into climbing and learning songs that they connect with books. The middle room was moving and creating new spaces for the kids, the cozy corner was the most popular,

General Comments

documentation shows the children are into snakes. The little learner's group was into breaking plaster of Paris to find gems, their interest is rocks and digging. The four-year-old group is into all animals, sharks, bears, sea monsters...and the children are also writing their own book. In all rooms I could see educators planning and connecting their activities with the goals they have set has a center into their quality improvement plan.
