General Comments

Licensing staff arrived at the licensed facility to conduct the license renewal inspection while the children were engaging in play activities.

Licensing staff noted multiple invitations of play set up for the children to explore. The first invitation of play consisted of a children's book about construction to look at along with mini construction vehicles for the children to play with. The second invitation of play consisted of mini tree cookies, jumbo popsicle sticks and small circular sticks for the children to explore and play with. The third invitation of play was a loose parts activity consisting of fine play sand, various sized rocks, mini construction vehicles, and large popsicle sticks for the children to explore and play with.

While observing the children at play, one child picked up one of the drum sticks and began to drum. One of the educators sat down beside the child and also began to drum. After a couple of minutes, more children joined them to drum while some children danced around the children and educators drumming.

The children washed up and sat down to have snack before going outdoors to play before leaving for the day.

Licensing staff noted multiple pieces of evidence of learning posted on the walls for the children to revisit their learning experiences. Some of the learning stories posted were titled "Chefs in Training", "Fire Fighting Giraffe", "At the Salon", and "Painting with Water." Licensing staff also noted a poster on "Roots of Empathy" posted on the wall.

All files were organized and complete with all of the required documentation, and the educators were engaged with the children throughout the inspection.

Licensing staff recommends the facility for licensing.
