General Comments

The children were finishing up snack and getting ready for outside playtime when I arrived.
The children participated in free play activities while in the outdoor play space, such as rolling big snowballs, through snowball over the fence and playing on the climbing structures.

The center followed proper hand washing procedures when coming in from outside and before eating.
While the children were waiting for lunch to be served, they either had a story read to them or were able to look at books on their own.

There is evidence of planned programing and documentation throughout the facility.

Operator and staff were friendly and accommodating during the visit.
