General Comments

A renewal inspection occurred today. Children and educators were very welcoming to their center and were eager to show their different environments. Environments were set up, and ready for the children to engage in and transition to different activities. Materials were organized and displayed at children's level so they can be independently accessed.

Props were open-ended to provide multiple choices, solutions and possibilities for exploration and investigation. Documentation was present in both rooms that represent each child's current interests and curiosities. The center was supportive of senses of belonging, including storage space with labels for each individual child. All checks were observed and complete.

All staff files and a random review of children's files were complete.

One emergency contact number was missing but corrected on spot (was on another contact form).
