General Comments
Ratios are respected and staff were observed being attentive to the children, sitting at their level and then transitioning them to their mats for nap time. The staff were observed rubbing children's backs and soothing a child by holding them in their arms. The school age educators prepared the classroom in advance of the children's arrival from school. They discussed how the children grew their own garden last summer and are still interested in gardening so one of the educators purchased an indoor garden kit that they will be setting up with the children.
