General Comments

A monitoring Inspection occurred October 30, 2025

The children were observed across both indoor and outdoor environments, including during transitions. Additionally, the children were observed eating snack.

Upon arrival, the children were seated at the table preparing for snack. After snack, they transitioned to indoor free play, which included drawing with markers. The children were then provided with tape to attach their pictures to the wall. Other activities included playing with trains and looking at books.

Outdoors, the children were observed climbing the hill in the backyard and decorating pumpkins. The operator indicated that the children are currently interested in dancing to music, trucks, and sensory activities, specifically playdough.

The operator demonstrated positive interactions by using encouraging language and gentle reminders. Open-ended questions were asked, active listening was evident, and the operator extended the children's ideas through conversation.

Documentation was visible throughout the room and included photographs and artwork. Individual art portfolios were also observed to be up to date.

A clearly visible and prominent area was designated for posting the facility's license, current monitoring reports, and any orders for compliance. Additional documentation observed included incident logs, daily attendance records, daily information sheets, child profiles, and records of evacuation and monthly fire drills.
