General Comments

Go-Go currently has two licenced room at Park Street School, one being the library and the other being the gym. The early dismissal children (k-2) would normally occupy the library should they be inside due to inclement weather before the grade 3-5 children are dismissed from school. Once the late dismissal occurs, numbers permitting, everyone would then move to the gym.

The k-2 group were playing outside when I arrived. educators were observed constantly moving around to assure they could actively supervise the children. Once the late dismissal bell rang, they proceeded to go inside, wash their hands, and go to the gym.

Once all children had washed their hands and were in the gym, one educator helped facilitate an animal guessing game, while the other educator was setting up the room. This facility is considered a "mobile site" meaning it must be set up and taken down and stored every day.

Children were provided with the opportunity to have snack, and those who did not wish to have snack were able to partake in free play.

Educators were observed providing gentle reminders for the children to wear their masks properly while inside the school. They were also observed partaking in the children's games during free play period. Educators ensured that children were provided with enough warning before transitioning to a different activity.
