General Comments

When I arrived, the educators were waiting for the children to arrive from school. The staff ensured that all children were in attendance and called parents if children were absent. Then they entered the gym. Everyone sat in a circle to review the plans for the afternoon. Then they all went outside. It started to rain so the children came back in, washed their hands and played.

I would recommend that the routine for the arrival into the program is reviewed as the children waited 15 minutes in the hallway while staff called parents to confirm absences and another 15 minutes in the gym to go over rules and afternoon plans so a total of 30 minutes of sitting and no playing before they went outside. During these 30 minutes, there was a lot of redirection required as the children had difficulty sitting still and just wanted to move and talk among each other. I would recommend letting the children enter the gym and play while the other staff calls the parents for absences.

The indoor play area was set up with all materials and stations. There was sufficient variety and quantity of materials for all children present.

Everything is in compliance; I recommend for renewal.
