General Comments

Licensing Staff arrived at Amanda's House to perform a Monitoring Inspection. Upon arrival, the Operator was observed playing blocks with a child. There was only one child in attendance today as a few children were out sick and another is away.

The main room is clean, bright and inviting. Several changes have been made since the last Monitoring Inspection. The room had an abundance of artwork, learning stories and pictures displayed. The children have shown interest in animals and oceans lately. The children had worked together to create an ocean mural, with fish and sea creatures. The operator had made a chart in which the children got to mark if they would like to add a fish to the classroom. All children had chosen "yes". A new, colorful fish tank with 2 fish has been added since the last visit.

Throughout the visit the Operator was observed sitting with the child, engaged in building towers, a car garage and rocket ships made out of magnetic tiles. The child and operator worked together to put away the blocks and wash hands for morning snack. The operator is patient, kind and was heard offering choices throughout the morning. "Would you like to pick a muffin for morning snack, or would you like me to pick?". The Operator sat with the child as they ate a blueberry muffin and orange. During snack the child and Operator were engaged in conversation about eagles. This week the group has been interested in eagles, watching Big Bear Valley Eagle live camera and learning facts about the bird. Yesterday the group went for a walk looking for an eagle nest, taking pictures along the way.

The Operator was observed sanitizing the table once morning snack was finished. The child was encouraged to use the bathroom as they were about to head out to tap trees to make maple syrup. The child's lunch box and water bottle were brought with them. Staff and child profiles were reviewed today. Files were easily accessible, organized and contained all required documents.
