General Comments

A Monitoring Inspection was conducted this morning.

Infants - Children were observed finishing their snacks. Educators stated that the children enjoy throwing balls, in and out activities, babies, painting, risky play, and outside play. The educators in the infant's room planned a Halloween themed week and today was "Spooky Hair" day.

Twos - Children were observed sitting at their table, exploring several different art materials, and creating open ended art. Painted pumpkins were observed in the classroom.

Threes - Children were observed finishing snack, creating art, and taking part in dizzy play. Educators stated that the children presently enjoy dizzy play, arts and crafts, messy play, and books. Educator was observed sitting with the children, reading a story.

Preschool - Children were observed washing their hands before snack. Before snack, educators and children were observed singing a pre-snack song. Educators stated that the children are presently interested in flags, languages, and different cultures.

Several forms of documentation were observed in all classrooms - learning stories, photos, and artwork. Positive child guidance techniques were observed in all classrooms - educators sitting with the children, educators using positive language, and educators providing appropriate supervision.
