General Comments Upon licensing staff arrival, children were arriving from school. They put away their belongings and then engaged in free play. The older after-school group showed interest in the new dramatic play area and kitchen. Educators provided reminders and guidance to encourage the children to take turns using the materials. The educators also set up invitations to play, including activities to make puppets and bracelets, as well as coloring. The younger after-school group was observed engaging with play dough and accessories, reading books, colouring, and playing freely. The group then prepared to go outdoors, and the educator brought the attendance sheets and a first aid kit. The other group transitioned to the gym, where children had access to basketballs, nets, and other sports equipment, and were observed running and engaging in physical play. The groups follow a rotating schedule that includes opportunities to use the pool, play climber, and gym. Educators were actively engaged with the children throughout the visit, using positive child guidance strategies. Staff and child files were verified. Monthly fire drills are completed. Licensing staff recommends the program for renewal.
