General Comments

The inspector is on site to conduct the renewal inspection.

Upon the inspector's arrival on site and after conducting a ratio check, it is observed that one educator had taken a child to the bathroom while another educator remained outside with the rest of the children, resulting the group being over ratio. A discussion is held with the administrator, who explained that a staff member is usually available to replace the educator when needed.

During the inspection, the inspector observed various activities including outdoor and indoor free play, lunch, and rest periods.

A sensorial activity is also observed, where the educator engaged children using concrete materials such as branches and leaves, items the children had collected during a walk earlier in the week. Additionally, free painting and drawing activities are observed during the visit.

An educator is observed reading a story to children before the rest period.
