General Comments During the QAM visit, children were engaged in a variety of activities throughout the learning environment. Participation in circle time was optional. For children who chose to join, the educator led songs, conducted a name-calling roll call, and introduced information about insect body parts. A book about bugs was read to support the ongoing project work. Children who did not participate in circle time engaged in independent play using blocks and Magna-Tiles. The classroom environment was clean, organized, and equipped with a range of materials supporting literacy, dramatic_play, construction_play, and sensory_exploration. Materials were accessible to children and arranged to promote independent exploration. The second classroom group was outdoors for a walk at the time of the visit. Their indoor environment was reviewed and contained documentation and a variety of learning materials consistent with program expectations. Staff files, child-to-educator ratios, and the parent information board were reviewed and found to be accurate and up to date.
