General Comments

The Quality Assurance Monitor is on site in the morning to conduct a monitoring inspection. The child to staff ratio was respected.

The following elements were verified:

- If all required documents are posted in a visible location in the facility
- Daily activities
- The indoor play area and material
- Ratio
- Safety
- Access

The Quality Assurance Monitor had a discussion with the operator regarding the daily routine when an infant's developmental needs require a morning nap. Upon arrival, the Quality Assurance Monitor observed the children transitioning indoors following outdoor play time. During a review of ratios, it was noted that one infant was sleeping. The Quality Assurance Monitor inquired about the duration of the infant's nap, and the operator indicated that the child had been sleeping for approximately 35 minutes. The operator explained that she had brought a baby monitor outdoors and completed the required 15-minute sleep checks by bringing the other children indoors to conduct the check on the sleeping infant.

The Quality Assurance Monitor discussed safety concerns related to an infant sleeping indoors while the remaining children are outdoors, including the ability to respond promptly in the event of an emergency and the time required to bring all children back inside if immediate assistance is needed. The operator was reminded that the daily routine must be adapted to meet the individual needs of each child while ensuring that all children are provided with opportunities for outdoor play
The operator informed the Quality Assurance Monitor that she will modify the daily routine to ensure that all children are outdoors at the same time while continuing to meet the developmental and rest needs of the infant.

General Comments
A recommendation was also given to implement a designated container for toys that have been placed in children's mouths. These toys should be set aside and sanitized at the end of each day to help maintain a clean and healthy environment. The Quality Assurance Monitor observed the children playing in the indoor play area after outdoor play time. The children were engaged in various activities, including playing with Paw Patrol toys and participating in imaginative play by caring for baby dolls. The operator was observed reading books to the children in response to their request. The children were also observed transitioning to lunchtime (lunch boxes). Positive interactions and signing were observed between the operator and the children throughout these activities.
