General Comments
Licensing staff arrived at the facility prior to the children's arrival. The classroom was tidy, and materials were plentiful. Boardgames, colouring books and markers, beads, books, a dollhouse as well as kitchen station were all in good condition and set up in free play stations. Upon the children's arrival, educators were happy to greet them and guided them to hang up their bookbags. In the classroom the children choose their free play stations when called upon and their names were placed on the wall. Educators were involved with the children, sitting at a table colouring while another assisted with pearler beads. After the second group of children arrived, the groups played and prepared for snack time. Licensing staff observed outdoor play time and walked around the area with the Administrator discussing corrective measures that are to be made such as stabilizing the wooden structure in the corner and ensuring all screws and nails are pounded in to avoid injury. Staff and children files were all in proper order containing necessary documents.
