General Comments One the morning of my visit the children were excited about the snow. The 3 year old group were making a snowman craft. The Four year old group had finished making decorations for the Christmas tree and were in the processing of decorating it. There was also a dance party happening in the class and the children were all dressed up in the dramatic play costumes. The infants were enjoying a little free play and learning to roll tree cookies on the floor. The educators have shown improvement in their purposely planned activities and are writing daily journals of the activities. Each classroom has an active chat group in which the educators send pictures of what the children are doing during the day. I suggested some of these pictures be printed off and displayed in the classrooms. Overall the center is clean and the educators are engage with the children.
