General Comments

Licensing Staff arrived at the facility to perform a Monitoring Inspection. Upon arrival, the children were engaged in a variety of activities. A small group of children were at a table with crayons, glue, paper, beads and pipe cleaners, while others were observed playing with magnetic tiles. The Educators were seen greeting the families as children were dropped off. Attendance records are up to date.

Transitions throughout the morning were smooth, it was evident the children are familiar with the routine. A group of children were observed laughing and smiling as they played dress up and used old phones and digital cameras. They were heard asking for phone numbers and dialing them on the phones. Once it was time to clean up the children were observed putting the materials back where they belong before gathering at the reading area. An Educator sat with the children and read "The Gecko and the Echo". A quick game of freeze dance was played before the children washed their hands for morning snack.

After morning snack, the children used the washroom before getting ready to go outside. The Educators were respectful of the children's time and attention. One Educator took half of the group to get ready while the other half stayed in the classroom with the Educator as they waited to use the washroom. A final headcount was observed before the class walked to the outdoor play space. Outside, the children were excited to build a snowman with the fresh snow.

The classroom is bright and welcoming. A large posting board was filled with learning stories, children's artwork and family pictures. During today's visit only positive child guidance was observed. The Educators spoke kindly with the children, were engaged and eager to play with them and offered words of encouragement and praise.
