General Comments

Upon Licensing staff arrival, the school age children were having hot chocolate together at the table. With today being a Professional Development Day, the preschool program did not operate. The Operator showed me the take home bags that the preschool age children take turns taking home to complete with their family. The bags have activities to complete and then bring back to display their work. The finished projects are then added to the child's learning portfolio.

The main entry way was organized and tidy with the children's belongings and a parent board. All required information and documentation were arranged neatly and visible. Allergy information was posted in the kitchen pantry and the monthly fire drill had already been completed for the month of November.

The downstairs play space was neat and clean. There are learning stations set up with readily available open-ended play material such as magnet tiles, wooden blocks and felt pom poms. There are shelves with books, children's artwork and photos on display, a cozy corner and couch, as well as a nook with a wooden play kitchen and pretend wall phone.

Later in the afternoon, the children painted peg people in the craft room. There is an ample amount of craft supplies such as paint, ribbon, markers, scissors and pencil crayons. The operator was engaged with the children and kind words of encouragement were heard during their painting time and clean up.

Staff and child files were verified. All required documentation was in order and present.

Licensing staff recommends for renewal.
