General Comments

Upon Licensing staff arrival, the younger children were having a nap, and a preschool age child was playing quietly. The Operator gave me a tour of the main indoor play space. The main play space has learning stories and children's artwork and crafts on display. There are learning centers set up with ample art material, age-appropriate toys, and books on a lower shelf.

The indoor space was clean and organized. Children's belongings were tidy by the main door and the parent board was visible by the stairs with all required documents posted.

The outdoor space had a mud kitchen, a swing set, tricycles, trucks and a shed with extra play material.

Later in the afternoon, the younger infant woke up from their nap before the other children. The Operator was observed getting him a drink and a snack. The Operator was nurturing and sang Happy Birthday with a preschool age child who did not nap.

Child and staff files were verified and in order. Licensing staff recommends for renewal.
