General Comments
On the day of the monitoring inspection visit, the infants were engaging in free play activities. They were playing "peek-a-boo" with the educators in the classroom and climbing underneath the small rock climbing structure in the classroom. After diaper changes, the infants went outdoors to play in the sandbox. The infants enjoyed digging in the sand. The preschool three and four year old children were playing in the outdoor playground while some other children went out for a walk. On the outdoor playground licensing staff noted an abundance of natural materials for the children to play with! The children had a lot of fun rolling the wooden spool. This is a fantastic gross motor activity! Every child each had multiple turns rolling the wooden spool. All educators were very engaged with the children during the monitoring visit. While licensing staff was conducting a monitoring inspection visit, it was noted that some cleaning supplies were not locked up with the other toxic materials. When this was brought to the attention of the educator, the educator took the named materials and locked them up immediately.
