General Comments
Educators were very welcoming; participating in the monitoring inspection process and sharing recent interests and activities of the children. Children were eager to share with QA Monitor what they saw on their morning walk and what they were having for lunch. Children are reflected in the learning environments through photos, art work and documentation of their learning. This creates a sense of belonging and demonstrates to children that they are valued. Discussed recent participation in professional learning topic around open-ended art. Recommendation was made to post the documentation created from introducing new materials to the children so that you may revisit with the children to see what they recalled from the experiences provided and reflect on ways to make these types of activities part of your daily invitations to the children. Incident logs were reviewed today and were complete.
