General Comments

Licensing Staff arrived at the facility to conduct the Renewal Inspection. Upon arrival, both classes were engaged in activities. In the two-year-old classroom, the children were seated at a table with the Educator and participating in a fall-themed painting activity. In the larger classroom, some children were participating in a turkey painting activity while others played with a wooden train set and engaged in imaginative play in the kitchen area.

The indoor environment was bright, welcoming, and well organized. Learning stories, webbing, pictures of the children, and artwork were displayed throughout both classrooms. Each classroom had a variety of age-appropriate play materials that were easily accessible to the children and observed to be in good condition.

Shortly after arrival, a timer was set and the children were given a gentle reminder to begin cleaning up in preparation for outdoor play. Both groups worked together to clean up and transitioned outside smoothly.

Once outdoors, a group of children gathered in the playhouse with an Educator, who sat with them and read several stories. Throughout the morning, children were observed playing in the sandbox, making pizza and coffee in the mud kitchen, and driving Little Tikes cars. A large storage bin containing additional play materials was available, along with a shed stocked with extra resources, including books, Play-Doh, Barbies, and Lego.

The two-year-old class transitioned back inside first, followed by the older group. Proper diaper-changing procedures and handwashing were observed before the children sat down for lunch. As children finished eating, they engaged in quiet activities such as playing with blocks, looking at books, and playing with dolls before transitioning to the nap room. The children appeared comfortable and familiar with the daily routine, and all transitions observed during the Renewal Inspection were smooth.

Only positive child guidance was observed. The Educators were patient, attentive, and engaged with the children. Staff and child profiles were reviewed on site and contained all required documentation.

Licensing Staff recommends renewal.
