General Comments

Go-Go After School Connaught Street is considered a mobile site; therefore, educators must set up and tear down daily. Arrived for today's monitoring inspection before children got out of school, educators had the room all set up and ready for them.

Educators walk to the school to pick up the children and walk them back to the center. Observed educators doing several head counts once children got out of school before they all walked over to the facility together.

Once everyone arrived at the facility, they put their outside belongings away, washed their hands and were provided the opportunity to have snack or play at centers. When it was time for the educators to have to walk over to the school to get the older children (grades 3-5), everyone tidied up and headed over together. Some of the children went with one educator directly to the school's outside play space, while a few stayed with the other educator to wait for the older children to get out of school.

Educators were observed interacting with children during today's monitoring visit. They were also quick to act should they notice a child required their assistance. Once everyone was outside, the educators were observed ensuring they positioned themselves in the playground so as to be able to properly supervise the children while they played.

Educator informed me that they are in the process of rearranging the hooks where the children hang their belongings (book bags, jackets, etc). Please ensure that once this is completed that the children's hooks are labelled with their names to ensure compliance with regulation.
