General Comments

The facility is closing for the summer and child/staff ratio was low today. There is a large variety of materials and learning opportunities available to the children.

The Operators give a sense of belonging of the environment to the children. The children organize, clean and develop their own space.

The programming that is evident is initiated by the children. The operators just add or find materials to complement what the children want to learn about.

The children each have a journal to document their outside adventures and learning. Activities are open-ended and child-directed.

All documentation for licensing was easily verified by the inspector. The files are complete and organized.

I can now recommend facility for licensing pending a new fire inspection.
