General Comments

The Quality Assurance Monitor (QAM) was on site for a monitoring inspection during the morning preschool session.

The following elements were verified during the visit:

- Child-to-staff ratio
- Incident records
- Visibility and posting of all required documents
- Indoor play area
- Daily programming

A new staff member was present during the inspection. The administrator informed the QAM that a paper copy of the staff file was not available for licensing staff to verify; however, electronic copies are maintained at the facility. The QAM requested that the administrator print the required documents and create a physical file for the staff member in question. All documents were reviewed and found to be compliant with regulations.

During the visit, the QAM observed indoor play, snack time, storytime with an educator, and games in the gym. Positive interactions were noted, such as educators communicating and engaging in play at the children's level.

A visual inspection of the indoor play area material and equipment demonstrates compliance, and all incident records are properly recorded.
