General Comments

During my unannounced afternoon visit, I observed that the required staff-to-child ratios were maintained for all age groups present. In addition, younger children were not mixed with other age groups. The following elements were observed:
-Updates to personnel records were completed.
-Children's personal belongings were stored separately and clearly labeled with each child's name.
-Verification of 20 files for children aged 0–5 years, including signed consent forms, was completed.
-The required postings were displayed and included: the daily routine, the lunch menu, the evacuation procedure, the names and telephone numbers of emergency contacts, a notice indicating that there are no life-threatening allergies, the licence, and the most recent inspection reports.
Additional observations included naptime, the departure of the four-year-old children to Daycare #1 for a special activity, bottle-feeding for two infants, diaper-changing procedures, handwashing practices, and the consumption of snacks provided by parents.
The children didn't go outdoors during my visit due to rainy weather.
