General Comments
Monitoring Inspection: The children were observed coloring, playing with trains, pool noodles, building with connector blocks, and relaxing in the cozy corner. The educator was observed engaging in positive conversations with the school-age children. The classroom environment was set up with a wide range of materials for the school-age children to explore. The children were calm, and they were all engaged in play. New materials and equipment have recently been added to the environment. The Government Attendance sheets reflected the children that were present.
