General Comments

A monitoring inspection occurred today, October.17th/2025. During the inspection children were observed actively engaging in the outdoor environment.. Outdoors, several children were using digging materials(shovels and trucks)s in the play area. The children were taking turns using the tools and educators were assisting by explaining how to take turns and demonstrating how to share. The activity supported gross motor development and sensory exploration.

Indoors, documentation was available for a purposefully planned activity involving infants. Educators had hung apples on a faux plant, encouraging infants to reach, grasp, and pick the apples. This activity was documented and reflected intentional planning to support fine motor skills, sensory engagement, and early cognitive development.

One child shared with the inspector, "A fire truck came to our centre," which was confirmed by the educator. The educator indicated that both a fire truck and an ambulance had visited the centre the previous week, providing a valuable real-world learning experience for the children.

The inspector had a discussion with educators regarding the use of printed worksheets(noted in the three year old room). Educators were reminded to be mindful of supporting children's learning through open-ended materials and experiences rather than relying on pre-designed printed pictures.

There was no new staff at time of monitoring inspection. All fire drills were observed and complete.
