General Comments

This is my first monitoring visit since the new licence was issued. I noticed that the center appeared more clean. The preschool area is open, bright and spacious. There are no infants present yet, but the space looks almost ready for them to attend. The staff are doing more cleaning, cleaning charts are present in each classroom, and the center is in the process of becoming more organized. There is a new fenced-in and spacious outdoor area for the infants to use. I took note that there are new first aid kits and checklists up in each classroom, as well as new fire extinguishers.

The school age children were at the park at the time of my visit, and the younger preschool children were getting up from their nap. The four year old classroom had some quiet time after their lunch and they appeared to have fun playing quiet activities with their friends. The program appears to be going smoothly in the classrooms, and I look forward to seeing the space once the organization is complete.
