General Comments

This was the Operator's first Monitoring Visit since being licensed.

There were two infants present for today's visit. The operator displayed strong child guidance practices that were appropriate for infant care. She spoke in a kind, nurturing tone and uses all available opportunities to sing with the infants and introduce vocabulary. She was patient during transitions and allowed the children to work on independent skills such as walking but was also present and attentive to the infant's needs.

The morning consisted of finishing up snack and then outdoor play in the backyard and a walk to the neighbourhood park. The backyard has multiple play surfaces such as the deck, grass, mulch, and a sandbox. During the walk to the park the operator stopped the wagon multiple times for the infants to look at ants on the sidewalk, a lawn mower, a dog, trucks driving by and birds. They also said hello to the neighbors.

At the park the operator pushed the children on the swings and had paper and color dabbers in her bag for the infants to color. She was aware of when the infants were done one activity and wanted to explore another area of the park and followed their lead. She offered the infants many water breaks.

Upon the return from the park, the infants washed their hands and had lunch. Lunch was a cheese sandwich, strawberries and yogurt.
