General Comments A monitoring inspection occurred on Nov.20th/2026. Educators were actively preparing seasonal activities for all age groups in anticipation of the upcoming Christmas period. Throughout the visit, children were seen participating in both indoor and outdoor free-play experiences. Proper handwashing practices were consistently followed, and step stools or platforms were available to help children independently reach standard-height sinks and toilets. Educators noted that many children are currently enthusiastic about Christmas-themed crafts, especially those involving cutting and gluing. Staff were observed using encouraging language and offering gentle prompts to guide children's social and developmental skills. Outdoors, educators were engaged and involved in the children's play, supporting activities and interactions. A daily incident log is maintained on site. Weather permitting, outdoor play is offered for a minimum of one hour within every four-hour block when most children are present. Monthly emergency evacuation drills are completed and posted for review. Each room displays a clearly visible daily schedule, and evacuation procedures are posted in an easily accessible location. Ideas gathered from online resources and learning stories are incorporated into various learning areas, such as the art space, library, kitchen play area, and dramatic play zones. The facility provides a diverse selection of age-appropriate materials, toys, books, and equipment to support children's learning and exploration. The diaper-changing station is located within one metre of a sink, and diapering procedures are posted where staff can easily see them. Allergy information for children is also displayed. The infant outdoor area is either physically separated or used at alternate times from other age groups to ensure safe and developmentally appropriate outdoor play. Children's portfolios are being developed, and children have access to them. Multiple forms of documentation were observed throughout the centre, highlighting children's learning, interests, and daily experiences.
