General Comments Upon arrival, the QAM observed a variety of learning invitations available throughout the room. Materials and activities included Lego, dramatic play materials, trucks, Barbies, and bracelet-making supplies. The ASP shared that children have participated in a range of summer activities, including slime-making experiences, beach walks, and Fear Factor-style challenges. The room was observed to be clean, organized, and well-maintained. Materials were accessible to children and supported a variety of play and learning opportunities. Children had access to experiences that encouraged creativity, exploration, and engagement.
