General Comments The Quality Assurance Monitor is on site in the morning to conduct a monitoring inspection. The child-to-staff ratio was respected during the inspection. The following elements were verified: <ul style="list-style-type: none"> <li>-Daily routine</li> <li>-Indoor play area and material</li> <li>-Washrooms</li> <li>-Storage space</li> <li>-Personal belongings</li> <li>-If all required documents are posted in a visible and prominent place in the facility</li> <li>-Children's records</li> <li>-Signed consent in the children's records</li> </ul> The Quality Assurance Monitor discussed emergency contact information in children's profiles with the administrator. During the review, it was noted that some profiles contained incomplete address details for emergency contacts, with only the city listed instead of the full address. The intent of requiring parents to provide a complete address is to determine whether the emergency contact is located within one hour of the facility in case an emergency pickup is required. According to Regulation 24(1)(iv), each child's profile must include the name, full address, and telephone number of at least two individuals authorized by the parent or guardian to pick up the child and to be contacted in case of an emergency when the parent or guardian cannot be reached. Moving forward, full address details must be provided for both emergency contacts in all children's profiles. The Quality Assurance Monitor observed the children free playing in the indoor play area. One educator was observed comforting a child who was upset and one other educator was playing on the floor with the children. The children were also observed engaged in listening to an audio book while the educator was holding the real

book to support the children visually. The name of the book was Gilbert in Deep. The school-aged children were not on site as they stayed at the school to play in the outdoor play area. The administrator informed the Quality Assurance Monitor that the children loved to play with the new gaga ball field.
