General Comments

This is the Operator's first monitoring inspection since becoming licensed.

During the morning, children had the opportunity to create their own kite craft. The operator had all materials prepared and children could choose the color of their paper. Crayons, markers, pencil crayons and stickers were accessible on the table. Infants were included in the activity and seated with the group.

When some children were interested in doing puzzles, the operator allowed flexibility in the routine. The craft was going to be finished at a later time.

Outdoor time occurred before lunch time and the transition to get ready with shoes and hats was smooth, with the operator being close by to assist children. However, she also allowed time for children to practice the skills of dressing independently.

The operator displayed kind and effective child guidance throughout the morning. Children were spoken to with respect and offered choices. She was calm and patient when speaking with children about sharing. Infants were treated with compassion and comforted when needed.

All pending items for the operator to complete as per the inspector's recommendations are finished. The table was stained, the foam climbing blocks were discarded and all tires have holes which provide adequate drainage.
