General Comments
Licensing staff arrived on site at 8:45am for a Monitoring Inspection. Upon arriving, the children were inside engaged in free play activities in the living room. The operator gave a verbal prompt and asked the children to clean up before going to play in the downstairs play area. The operator was observed leading the children down the stairs and ensuring that they were safe. Once downstairs, the children engaged in free play activities such as playing on the large fort area and letter association game. The operator was observed sitting on the floor with the children while they played. Some children invited the operator to play with them and the operator engaged in their activities. Later, the operator was observed preparing an obstacle course including a balance beam, tunnel and a letter association game at the end of the course. The children were observed completing the obstacle course and the operator was heard praising the children. The operator was heard saying "Yes, amazing! I am very impressed" and "Amazing letter matching" as the children engaged in the course activity. Later, a verbal five-minute prompt was given to the children to identify an upcoming transition. The children and operator were observed heading upstairs and washing their hands before having a morning snack. Some of the children's diapers were changed during this time. Morning snacks were set out on the table for each child. The operator offered the children their water bottles and sat down next to the children while they ate. After, the children's hands were washed and the operator prompted the children to get ready to go play outside in the back yard. The children changed their shoes and the operator was observed checking the weather before going outside. Once outside, the children were observed playing with various play materials. A large pirate ship, dramatic play car and a smaller climbing structure was present. The children were observed playing with the water pump, play kitchen and in the large play car. Various accessories were present such as spoons, buckets, pots and pans were located at an accessible height for the children to engage with. The operator was heard inviting the children to the garden to help pick vegetables. The operator was heard praising the children for picking tomatoes and cucumbers and ensured that all children had a chance to participate if they wanted. Once the vegetables were picked, the children returned to free play. The operator was attentive to the children and was observed participating in their outdoor activities. The outdoor environment was safe and well maintained. A verbal prompt was given to the children before returning inside. Once inside, the children washed their hands and sat down at the table. The operator offered different activities to the children before having lunch. The operator was observed preparing a letter, number and color matching game with stickers. The operator was observed praising and offering help to the children during the activity. After, the operator was observed heating up the children's lunches and filling up their water bottles.

Daily attendance was taken and the children's personal belongings were properly labelled and stored in their cubbies. Child artifacts were posted upstairs and downstairs along with pictures of the children while at play. Play materials were located on low accessible shelving.
