General Comments

Upon arrival the children were engaged in free play throughout the classroom. The children's schedule was posted of their daily activities and there was documentation of the children's learning available to view.

The classroom had a variety of materials available to the children including a wide variety of art materials, games, puzzles, building materials, cars, mr. potato head, a large tetris game and a quiet area where the children could just sit and read.

The children used the washroom, washed their hands and proceeded to go outside to the play space. The play space is large with climbing structures and swings. A wagon of resources also accompanied the educators to give the children more choices in their play.

The educators interact with the children. They were observed asking the children questions and taking an interest in what the children were doing.

Fire drills are being conducted on a regular basis, incidents are being logged, attendance records are being filled out properly, child and staff files were complete. All documentation for licensing was complete and verified at the time of inspection.

I can recommend facility for licensing.
