General Comments Licensing staff arrived at the licensed early learning and childcare home to conduct the annual license renewal inspection. Upon arrival, the children and the operator were transitioning from outdoor play to the indoor play environment. The operator informed licensing staff that they had been outside planting seeds in the flower beds in advance of upcoming rain. The children enthusiastically shared their experiences of planting seeds in the garden, demonstrating engagement and excitement in the activity. During the inspection of the indoor play environment, licensing staff observed a well-organized space with clearly defined play centres. These included accessible mark-making materials, a loose parts area featuring natural wood materials, and a dramatic play centre equipped with a variety of accessories to support imaginative play. A review of documentation confirmed that all required files were well organized, complete, and up to date. Throughout the inspection, the operator demonstrated the use of positive child guidance strategies. The operator expressed interest in participating in face-to-face professional learning opportunities with other early learning and childcare home operators, with a focus on enhancing curriculum planning and implementation through collaboration and shared practice. Based on the observations and review conducted, licensing staff recommend the early learning and childcare home for renewal of its license.
