General Comments

Children were waking up from naps when licensing staff arrived. One child needed more time to wake up completely, so the operator allowed the child to take their time and offered them books to gradually join the other children. The children sat at the table and one in a highchair for snack. There was a discussion with the operator to remain with children while eating to ensure safety.

There is evidence of documentation throughout the play area. Learning stories are posted down at children's level with connections to the curriculum, children's quotes and photos of children engaged in learning. The operator uses the children's quotes as a title for each learning and includes a what's next section with questions of what can expand the learning or what children are thinking.

The environment was filled with resources and items over the floor in the living space and kitchen and there was a discussion about encouraging children to clean up regularly when playing. A suggestion was made to play or sing a familiar song so children can get into the routine of cleaning up. The operator mentioned the children that don't nap enjoy playing with lego or different resources while the other children are napping therefore, reminding children that after cleanup they can play with lego might be motivation to clean up.
