General Comments

Renewal Inspection:

Children were observed attentively listening to their educator read a story. During the reading, the educator took time to explain unfamiliar words and asked reflective questions to engage the children in the content. The children also participated in an art activity, creating turkeys for Thanksgiving by coloring, gluing, and pasting feathers made from construction paper. Licensing staff suggested that instead of pre-cutting the feathers, educators could provide paper and scissors to allow children to cut their own.

During outdoor play, children engaged in a variety of activities including races, riding bikes, playing frisbee and badminton, using the toy kitchen, and playing with toy cars and a parking garage.

The educator was observed actively engaging in play and using positive child guidance techniques when addressing challenging behaviors.

Children were seen washing their hands prior to lunch.

The indoor and outdoor environment was well-organized and equipped with a wide range of materials. Inside the Items were labeled with both pictures and words, and documentation was current and aligned with the Curriculum Framework.

The following records were reviewed: incident logs, fire drill records, educator professional learning hours, and daily attendance sheets. All staff and child files were also reviewed.

The home is recommended for licensing.
