General Comments

Monitoring Inspection:

A monitoring inspection was conducted in the morning.

The preschool children were observed engaging in a variety of activities, including hiding small figures and searching for them throughout the play environment, participating in an art activity involving color mixing with paint and brushes, reading stories with their educator, and going for a walk in the neighborhood.

The indoor environment was set up with a wide variety of materials to support exploration. Materials were organized and accessible on low, open shelves, allowing children to independently access them throughout the day.

Purposeful planning was evident through documentation displayed within the environment. Documentation included clear connections to the New Brunswick Curriculum Framework.

Handwashing routines were observed during washroom use.

Monthly fire drills are documented.

Daily attendance records were reviewed, found to be accurate, and reflective of all children in attendance.

All required documents were posted on the Parent Board.
