General Comments

A Monitoring Inspection was completed this morning. Children were observed throughout a variety of daily routines and experiences, including free play, handwashing, snack time, and outdoor play.

The infants were observed enjoying their snack. Educators shared that the children are currently showing an interest in cars, the song Wheels on the Bus, throwing activities, scoop-and-dump play, and helping with cleaning tasks.

The two/three-year-olds were observed during outdoor play. Educators indicated that the children are currently interested in sensory experiences, building activities, and imaginative play through imitation.

The three/four-year-olds were engaged in a variety of learning experiences, including stacking cups, building with magnetic blocks, and exploring a tuff tray sensory activity containing slime/pretend snow, animals, and vehicles.

Various forms of documentation were observed throughout the centre, including photographs, children's artwork, learning stories, and word webs that reflected the children's emerging interests and experiences.

All learning environments were well-organized and featured clearly defined learning centres, including dramatic play, art, gross motor, construction, literacy, and transportation areas.

Positive child guidance practices were observed in all classrooms. Educators were seen offering children choices, using positive language, and providing appropriate supervision and support throughout the day.

The parent information board was reviewed, and all required documentation was posted and current.
