One child was seen picking up a crayon and pretending to blow out a candle, demonstrating imaginative and symbolic play. The operator was actively engaged with the children, joining their conversations and participating in their activities. The operator's involvement in play supported meaningful connections and encouraged child-led exploration. A newly installed fence was observed in the front yard, enhancing the safety and structure of the outdoor environment. The operator confirmed that the fence was purchased using grant funding. Inside the facility, children's artwork was displayed on the walls, reflecting recent creative projects. A variety of age-appropriate books were available, displayed on a shelf at the children's level. Each child had their own hook for their belongings with their names labelled above the hook to support independence. Attendance records were reviewed and found to be completed.
